

Players take it in turns to join any two dots with a vertical or horizontal line. A player that completes a square with his line captures that square, places his initial in it, and gains another turn. When all the squares are complete, players total the value of each square they have captured. The player with the lowest score wins. A game for up to 4 players.

Example

